

GUT HEALTH SERVICES

Service Manual

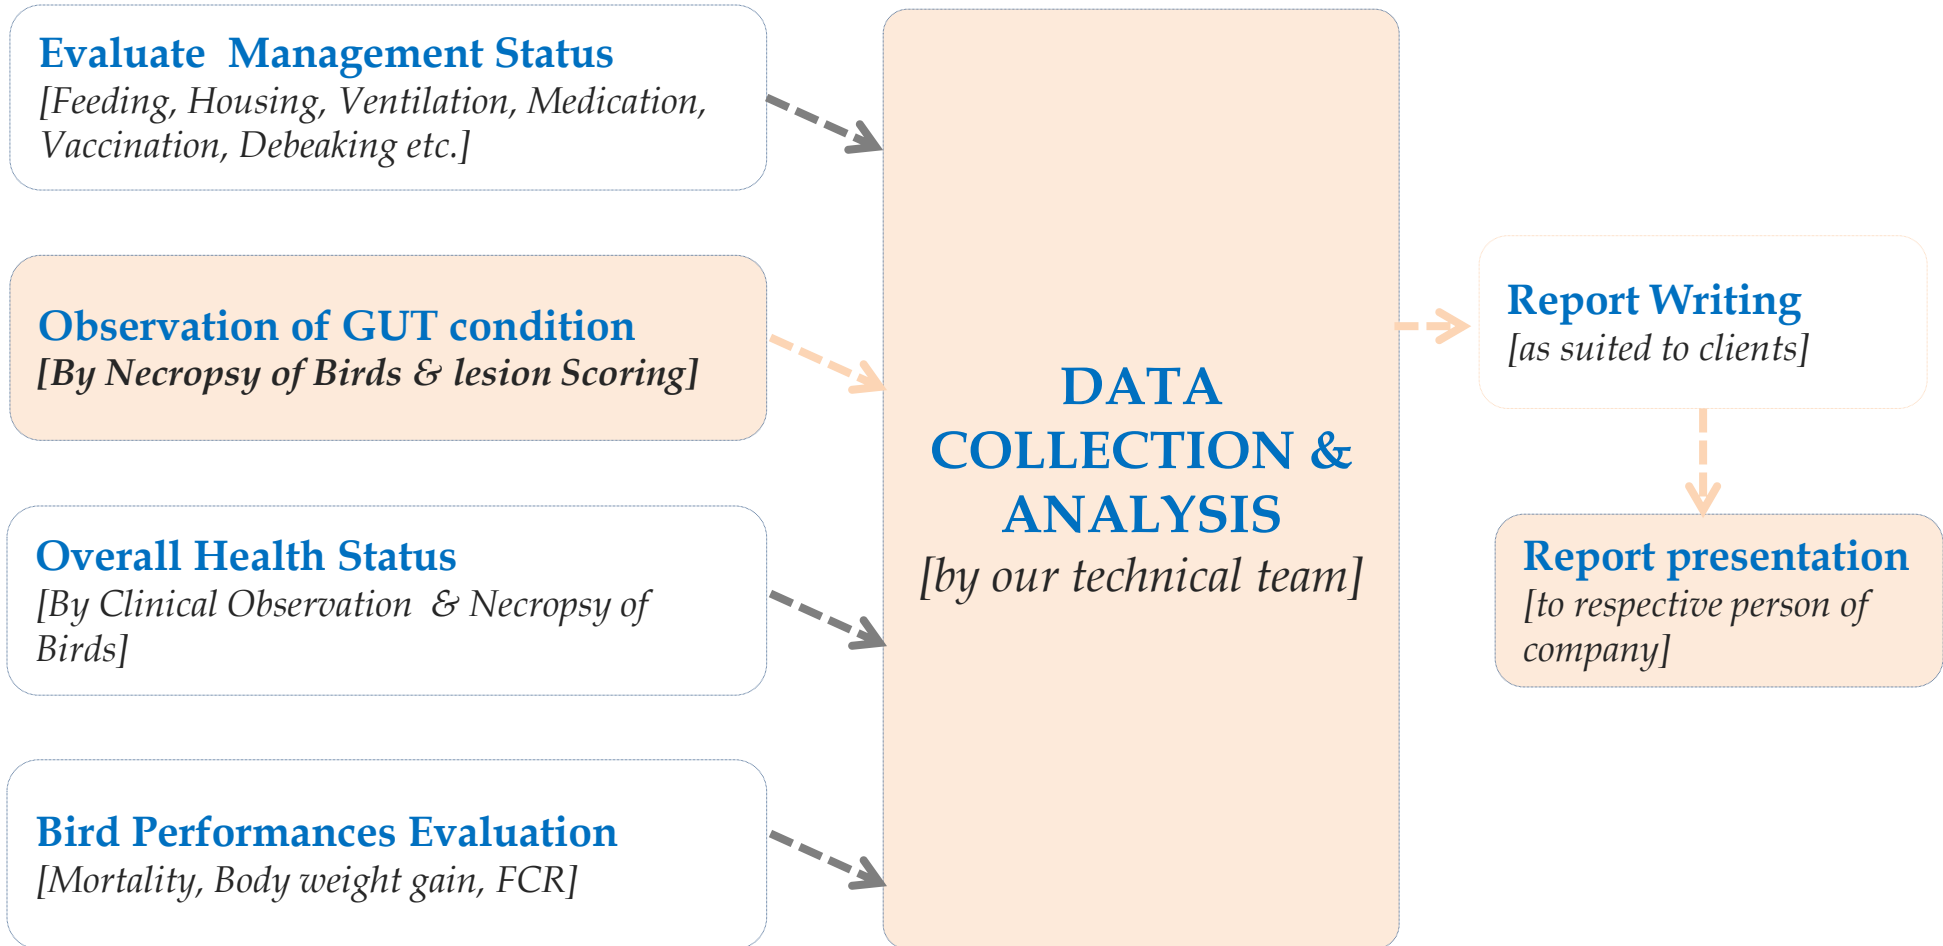

Gut Health comprises an optimum gut conditions to perform efficient functions associated with digestive systems. When gut health is compromised digestion of feed, absorption of nutrients & Gut associated immunity are affected. So, Maintaining healthy gut is essential for growth, performance & welfare of birds.

Regular monitoring to identify the root cause behind the gut health disturbance is much more important, therefore Provet Resources Ltd provides the services with following objectives:

- ✓ To assess the severity of coccidial development
- ✓ To identify the coccidial species involved
- ✓ To evaluate gut health
- ✓ To evaluate the health status of birds by clinical observation
- ✓ Finally, to assist decision making process of the clients

GUT HEALTH SERVICE

Methodology at a glance

GUT HEALTH SERVICES

Process details

During the field visits, the Phibro Poultry Health Monitoring System (PPHMS) are used. With this tool, we evaluate all the bird's systems & evaluate the health of each flock. After each visit, we discuss with the technical team on necropsy findings, vaccine program and possible improvement proposals, if necessary. After finalizing, the report are presented to respective person of respective company.

GUT HEALTH SERVICES

Contact for further details

DR. MD. AMINUL ISLAM, DVM, MS in Microbiology

Assistant Manager, Provet Resources Ltd

Cell: +8801915450050

Email: provet.aminulislam@gmail.com